THE VIRGINIA TECH UNDERGRADUATE HONOR CODE

The Virginia Tech Undergraduate Honor Code is the University policy that defines the expected standards of conduct in academic affairs. All students, upon admission to this university, pledge to abide by this Code, which applies to all assignments, examinations, and other academic exercises. This manual is designed to introduce the Honor Code, define and discuss the possible sanctions for academic misconduct, provide information about reporting suspected instances of misconduct, and review the procedures for resolving cases through the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity.

The Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity assumes oversight of the Undergraduate Honor Code and reports directly to the Vice Provost for Undergraduate Academic Affairs or an administrator with a similar title and responsibilities. The Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity shall maintain a title that is consistent with the titles of other direct reports to the Vice Provost for Undergraduate Academic Affairs. To ensure the success of the promotion of Academic Integrity, the university is committed to ensuring the success of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity through providing the appropriate staffing, budget, and office space for this high profile office.

I. INTRODUCTION

The Virginia Tech Undergraduate Honor Code (Policy 6335) embodies a spirit of mutual trust and intellectual honesty that is central to the very nature of the university, and represents the highest possible expression of shared values among the members of the university community.

The fundamental beliefs and ideals underlying and reflected in the Honor Code are

- That trust in a person is a positive force in making that person worthy of trust,
- That every student has the right to an academic environment free from the injustices caused by any form of intellectual dishonesty and
- That the honesty and integrity of all members of the university community contribute to its academic and intellectual vitality.

Ethical and honorable conduct in academic and research pursuits is critical to these beliefs and ideals. Given this understanding, the functions of the Undergraduate Honor System are

- To communicate to the University community the meaning and importance of intellectual honesty;
- To articulate and support the interests of the community in maintaining the highest standards of conduct in academic affairs;
- To cultivate a culture of honor and integrity through proactive and preventive educational programs; and
- To identify, sanction, and educate those who fail to live up to the stated expectations of the university community with regard to these standards.

I. A. COMMUNITY RESPONSIBILITY

Academic misconduct is a corrosive force in the academic life of a university, jeopardizing the quality of education and depreciating the genuine achievements of others. Actively deterring academic misconduct is, without reservation, the responsibility of all members of the Virginia Tech community. Apathy or acquiescence in the presence of academic misconduct is not a neutral act – failure to confront and deter such behavior will reinforce, perpetuate, and enlarge the scope of such misconduct.<sup>2</sup>

I. A. 1. STUDENT RESPONSIBILITY

Virginia Tech students are expected to uphold and to encourage other students to abide by the Honor Code. A primary responsibility of Virginia Tech students is to refrain from any form of violation of the Honor Code. Students are responsible for authenticating any work on assignments or scholarly projects submitted to an instructor or for publication and, if asked, should be able to produce proof that the submission is indeed the work of that student. Students should keep appropriate records at all times, as the inability to authenticate one's work if asked to do so will be considered sufficient grounds to initiate an investigation of academic misconduct.

If a student participating in group work engages in academic misconduct, all members of that group could be held responsible for the misconduct if it is shown that the group members assisted in the misconduct and/or were aware of it without reporting it to the instructor. It is the responsibility of each group member to document who contributes each part of the project and to know what activities group members are engaging in to get the material they provide.

I. A. 2. FACULTY AND STAFF RESPONSIBILITY

Faculty and staff also share in the responsibility to promote academic integrity and to report acts that violate the Honor Code. All instructors (including instructors of on-line courses) are expected to take proactive steps to promote academic integrity in the classroom, including (but not limited to) adding the Honor Code statement and other appropriate language to their syllabi. Instructors are encouraged to describe prohibited behavior and the consequences of such activity, as well as to openly discuss academic integrity with students in their courses early and throughout the semester. Additionally, faculty members are expected to adhere to the policy pertaining to the reporting and adjudication of violations of the Honor Code. Initiating formal procedures is a necessary and obligatory component of this shared responsibility.

II. DEFINITIONS OF ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT<sup>4, 5, 6</sup>

Commission of any of the following acts shall constitute academic misconduct. This listing is not, however, exclusive of other acts that may reasonably be said to constitute academic misconduct. Clarification is provided for each definition with some examples of prohibited behaviors.

II. A. CHEATING

Cheating includes the intentional use of unauthorized materials, information, notes, study aids or other devices or materials in any academic exercise, or attempts thereof.

Examples of cheating include, but are not limited to:

- II. A. 1. Acquiring answers from any unauthorized source in completing any examination. For examinations, this includes looking at another student's exam, taking answers from another student's exam paper, use of textbook/study sheet/calculator during an exam for which those materials are not allowed, working with another student on a project that is to be completed individually, copying solutions from an online source or solutions manual, getting answers from students who have previously taken the examination, or using external aids (e.g., books, notes, calculators, electronic devices, conversation with others) that have not been specifically designated as allowed by the instructor.
- II. A. 2. Acquiring answers from any unauthorized source in completing any assigned work. For assigned work, unauthorized sources include, but are not limited to, working with another student on a project that is to be completed individually, copying solutions from an online source or solutions manual, using the services of commercial term paper companies, or purchasing answer sets to homework assignments. Students unsure as to whether a source is authorized should check with the instructor.
- II. A. 3. Having another person conduct research or prepare work for you without advance authorization from the instructor.
- II. A. 4. Collaborating with other students in the completion of assigned work unless specifically authorized by the course instructor. Students should assume that all assignments are to be completed individually unless the instructor indicates otherwise.

II. B. PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism includes the copying of the language, structure, programming, computer code, ideas, and/or thoughts of another and passing off the same as one's own original work, or attempts thereof.

Examples of plagiarism include, but are not limited to:

- II. B. 1. Using another person's words verbatim without appropriate quotation marks and citation, as appropriate to the discipline.
- II. B. 2. Paraphrasing the work of another without appropriate citation, as appropriate to the discipline.
- II. B. 3. Using a thesaurus or similar reference in order to substitute words for the words used by a source and then passing off the results as one's own work.
- II. B. 4. Attempting to receive credit for work performed by another, including papers obtained in whole or in part from individuals or other sources.
- II. B. 5. Failing to cite resources (print or electronic) if they are utilized in any way as source material in an academic exercise.

General information pertaining to plagiarism:

- Faculty members are responsible for identifying any specific style/format requirement for the course. Examples include, but are not limited to, American Psychological Association (APA) style, Modern Languages Association (MLA) style, Chicago style, and Bluebook style.
- Direct Quotations: Every direct quotation must be identified by quotation marks or appropriate indentation and must be properly acknowledged in the text by a citation or in a footnote or endnote.
- Paraphrases: Prompt acknowledgment is required when material from another source is paraphrased or summarized, in whole or in part, in one's own words. To acknowledge a paraphrase properly, one might state "To paraphrase Locke's comment" and then conclude with a footnote, endnote, or another citation identifying the exact reference.
- Borrowed Facts: Information gained from reading or research, which is not common knowledge, must be acknowledged.
- Common Knowledge: Common knowledge includes generally known facts, such as the names of leaders of prominent nations, basic scientific laws, etc. Materials that add only to a general understanding of the subject may be acknowledged in the bibliography and need not be footnoted or endnoted.
- Footnotes, Endnotes, and In-text Citations: One footnote, endnote, or in-text citation is usually enough to acknowledge indebtedness when a number of connected sentences are drawn from one source. When direct quotations are used, however, quotation marks must be inserted and acknowledgment made for each instance. Similarly, when a passage is paraphrased, acknowledgment is required.

II. C. FALSIFICATION

Falsification includes the statement of any untruth, either verbally or in writing, with respect to any element of one's academic work, or attempts thereof.

Examples of falsification include, but are not limited to:

- II. C. 1. The forgery of official signatures.
- II. C. 2. Changing responses on an exam after the testing period has ended.
- II. C. 3. Altering lab data so that the values measured appear to agree more closely with expected values.
- II. C. 4. Altering documents affecting academic records, forging signatures of authorization or falsifying information on any official academic document, grade report, letter of permission, petition, add/drop/withdrawal form, ID card, or any other official document of Virginia Tech.

II. D. FABRICATION

Fabrication includes making up data and results, and recording or reporting them, or submitting fabricated documents, or attempts thereof.

Examples of fabrication include, but are not limited to:

- II. D. 1. Inventing/ Making up or falsifying lab data.
- II. D. 2. Creating false documents to excuse an absence.
- II. D. 3. Modifying a transcript from another institution in an attempt to earn transfer credits for a class not completed satisfactorily.

II. E. MULTIPLE SUBMISSION

Multiple submission involves the submission for credit—without authorization of the instructor receiving the work—of substantial portions of any work (including oral reports) previously submitted for credit at any academic institution, or attempts thereof.

Examples of multiple submission include, but are not limited to:

- II. E. 1. Submitting the same paper for credit in more than one course in the same semester without the instructor's permission.
- II. E. 2. Making revisions in a paper or report (including oral presentations) that has been submitted and graded in a previous semester and, without the instructor's permission, submitting it for credit in another course.
- II. E. 3. Representing group work produced in one course as one's own work and using it in another course.

- II. E. 4. Submitting in a course being repeated the same paper, work, or assignment produced during original enrollment in the course.

II. F. COMPLICITY

Complicity includes intentionally helping another to engage in an act of academic misconduct, or attempts thereof.

Examples of complicity include, but are not limited to:

- II. F. 1. Allowing another student to copy from one's own paper during an exam or assignment.
- II. F. 2. Providing another student with course materials from a prior semester.
- II. F. 3. Distributing, in any form (e.g., paper, photo, video, audio recording and so forth), quiz or examination/test questions or other substantive information about such an assignment without the instructor's permission.
- II. F. 4. Collaborating on academic work when such collaboration is not permitted.
- II. F. 5. Taking a quiz or examination/test for another student.
- II. F. 6. Signing another student's name on an attendance sheet or academic assignment.
- II. F. 7. Using another student's identification number on an academic assignment.
- II. F. 8. Willingly conspiring or agreeing with another student(s) to commit an act of academic dishonesty.

II. G. VIOLATION OF UNIVERSITY, COLLEGE, DEPARTMENTAL, PROGRAM, COURSE, OR FACULTY RULES

The violation of any University, College, Departmental, Program, or Faculty Rules relating to academic matters that may lead to an unfair academic advantage by the student violating the rule(s).

III. ACADEMIC DISHONESTY SANCTIONS<sup>5</sup>

Instances of academic misconduct represent behavior that is of an especially serious nature. Sanctions assigned in instances of academic misconduct should convey the message that this behavior serves as a destructive force within the academic community. However, a wide range of sanctions can be employed in order to strike an appropriate balance between sending a message of accountability and enhancing a student's moral and cognitive development.

The Undergraduate Honor System is empowered with assigning sanctions that are outlined within Virginia Tech policies. These sanctions include separation from the institution, probationary status, and documentation that a violation has occurred. In addition, the Undergraduate Honor System is empowered to assign appropriate academic and/or educational sanctions based upon the specifics of the incident. Examples of academic sanctions for academic misconduct include receiving a failing grade or other grade penalty for the course. Examples of educational sanctions include requiring a student to complete the Academic Integrity Education Program.

Faculty may assign sanctions up to an F* sanction as the student's final course grade and referral to the Academic Integrity Education Program. Students are encouraged to discuss their involvement in an academic misconduct situation with their academic advisor.

The University's recommended sanction for academic misconduct shall be an F* sanction as the student's final course grade. More severe or lesser penalties may be imposed if the circumstances warrant. If academic misconduct is determined, and an F* sanction is assigned while a course is still in session, the student is no longer eligible to attend the class, effective on the date of the decision.

The sanction for a second offense of academic misconduct committed by a student shall normally be expulsion from the University. Under rare extenuating circumstances, the hearing panel of the Undergraduate Honor System may assign a sanction less than expulsion for a student who has committed academic misconduct if the circumstances warrant. If a sanction less than expulsion is assigned by the hearing panel, a written explanation of the hearing panel's decision must be provided to the parties involved, including the reporting faculty member, the faculty member's department head, the student's department head, the student's dean, the University Registrar, and the Executive Vice President and Provost.

A student may not drop a course, withdraw from a course, or withdraw from the University in order to avoid any sanction for academic misconduct. A class previously dropped or withdrawn from may be reinstated in a student's record if an Honor Code violation is found to have occurred after the student successfully dropped, withdrew from the course, or the University.

III. A. Sanctioning Guidelines

When it is determined by an Undergraduate Honor System hearing or through the Faculty-Student Resolution process that a student has violated the Honor Code, the following are examples of sanctions that may be applied.

III. A. 1. F* SANCTION

The F* sanction is intended to identify a student who has failed to uphold the values of academic integrity at Virginia Tech. A student who is assessed a sanction of F* as their final course grade shall have it documented on their transcript with the notation "FAILURE DUE TO ACADEMIC HONOR CODE VIOLATION." The F* sanction shall be treated as a final course grade of an F for the purposes of calculating Grade Point Average and determination of academic class standing.

A student may file a written petition to the Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity to have the sanction of an F* removed and permanently replaced with the grade of F. The decision to remove the F* sanction shall rest with the Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity and is contingent upon the successful completion of the Academic Integrity Education Program. The Director's decision is final. The F that remains when the * designation is removed, will be considered in the calculation of a student's Grade Point Average. A student who wishes to re-take the course may do so concurrently with the Academic Integrity Education Program.

III. A. 2. LOWERED COURSE GRADE

An appropriate grade penalty may be applied only if the decision is made that the student may remain in the course after being found responsible for academic misconduct. The lowered course grade may result from assigning either a zero or other lowered grade on the assignment involved in the misconduct, or by assigning a final course grade lower than the student would have earned had the incidence of academic misconduct not occurred.

III. A. 3. ACADEMIC INTEGRITY EDUCATION PROGRAM

Any student found responsible for academic misconduct may be required to complete the Academic Integrity Education Program. This sanction may be in addition to or in lieu of other assigned sanctions.

Failure to complete the program in the time frame assigned by the Undergraduate Honor System will result in the student either being placed on "academic hold" until such time as the program is completed or being placed on academic suspension.

III. A. 4. SUSPENSION FROM THE UNIVERSITY

This sanction includes suspension from the University for a period of time that will be specified during a hearing provided by the Undergraduate Honor System.

Suspension from the University for academic misconduct can only be assigned by the Undergraduate Honor System.

III. A. 5. EXPULSION FROM THE UNIVERSITY

This sanction permanently dismisses a student from the University. Only the Undergraduate Honor System can expel a student for academic misconduct.

III. A. 6. REVOKING OF DEGREE

The Board of Visitors has the authority to revoke the degree of a former student if a finding of academic misconduct is determined after the student has graduated. The basis for revocation of the degree would be if the sanction that is assigned for misconduct would have caused the student to be ineligible to receive the degree at that time.

The Undergraduate Honor System will be responsible for investigating the allegation, conducting a hearing, and determining the sanction in accordance with the Honor Code. The Undergraduate Honor System's decision may be appealed under the provisions of the Honor Code. If a sanction is assigned to the former student, then the case is referred to the college/school that awarded the degree to determine if the sanction would have made the student ineligible for the degree. If the answer is no, then the record of the misconduct is placed in the student's record and on the transcript as appropriate. If the answer is yes, then the dean of the college/school will recommend revocation of the degree to the Executive Vice President and Provost. The Executive Vice President and Provost may recommend revocation of the degree to the President and the Board of Visitors who will make the final decision. The President will notify the student, the college/school, and the Undergraduate Honor System of the decision. The decision by the Board of Visitors cannot be appealed.

IV. PROCEDURES PERTAINING TO CASE RESOLUTION

The Undergraduate Honor System will be the central location for maintaining records and overseeing the process for adjudicating cases dealing with violations of the Honor Code. All members of the university community should contact the Undergraduate Honor System for clarification or assistance with the reporting and handling of alleged violations of the Honor Code.

All persons in the Virginia Tech academic community (students, faculty, staff, and administration) shall be responsible for reporting alleged incidents of academic misconduct that come to their knowledge. Initial reports of alleged academic misconduct may be reported to the instructor of the course or directly to the Undergraduate Honor System. The initial reporting of an alleged incident may occur verbally, electronically, or in writing.

IV. A. FACULTY-STUDENT RESOLUTION PROCEDURES

Faculty members/instructors are required to report all cases of alleged academic misconduct. In a case where the student accused of a violation of the Honor Code has no previous record of academic misconduct, a faculty member/instructor has the option of meeting with the student to resolve the incident after receiving authorization from the Undergraduate Honor System. A faculty member/instructor is not required to meet with the student. A student may also choose not to participate in the Faculty-Student Resolution process and have their case referred directly to the Undergraduate Honor System.

Should either the faculty member/instructor or the student choose not to participate in the Faculty-Student Resolution process, the case will then proceed either to an Honor System Meeting, a hearing panel, or an administrative meeting, given the particular circumstances of the case.

The faculty-student resolution option typically consists of five distinct steps.

IV. A. 1. INITIAL REPORTING OF SUSPECTED VIOLATION

The faculty member/instructor should contact the Undergraduate Honor System within 10 University business days of observing, discovering, or receiving a report of an alleged incident of academic misconduct to begin a case file, discuss the UHS process, and request authorization to meet with the student to determine if academic misconduct has occurred. If the student has a previous record of academic misconduct, the case is required to be referred to the Undergraduate Honor System for further handling.

IV. A. 2. MEETING BETWEEN FACULTY MEMBER AND STUDENT

If there is no previous record and authorization is granted by the Undergraduate Honor System, the faculty member/ instructor may decide to handle the case individually through the Faculty- Student Resolution approach. A meeting will be scheduled and a Facilitator will normally be provided by the Undergraduate Honor System. The instructor(s) who reported the matter, the student(s) believed to have violated the policy, and the Facilitator are the only participants in this meeting. Proceedings in a case resolved in this manner are informal and non-adversarial. The purpose of the meeting will be to review and discuss the charges before the faculty member makes a decision. In this meeting, the student should also be informed of the allegation and given the opportunity to be heard. If authorized by the Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity, in extenuating circumstances, the faculty member/instructor and student may be allowed to meet without a Facilitator present.

IV. A. 3. FACULTY DETERMINATION AND RECCOMENDATION

The faculty member/instructor will determine if they believe that academic misconduct has occurred. If no misconduct is found the case is dropped, no action against the student is taken, and the decision is reported to the Undergraduate Honor System. If the faculty member/instructor determines that there has been academic misconduct, the faculty member/instructor determines the severity of the violation and recommends a sanction (see Section I.D. of this document) in accordance with the Undergraduate Honor System policies and procedures.

NOTE: In all cases, if the faculty member/instructor determines the violation deserves a greater penalty than an "F*" sanction in the course (i.e., suspension or expulsion), the case must be referred to the Undergraduate Honor System for adjudication.

IV. A. 4. STUDENT NOTIFICATION OF FACULTY RECCOMENDATION

The faculty member/instructor shall inform the student of the recommended sanction and of the process. The student is required to check one of the response options on the Undergraduate Honor System Violation Report Form and sign the form.

IV. A. 5. STUDENT OPTIONS

If the student accepts responsibility for the academic misconduct and accepts the sanction assigned by the faculty member/instructor, the Undergraduate Honor System Violation Report Form is sent to the Undergraduate Honor System within 10 University business days of the form being completed and signed by the student. In extenuating circumstances, the Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity may extend the deadline for submission of the Honor Code Violation Report Form. The Form will be included in the case file and the case is complete.

If the student indicates on the Undergraduate Honor System Violation Report Form that they do not agree with the sanction, deny that misconduct occurred, or requests to discuss the matter further with a member of the Undergraduate Honor System's staff, the faculty member/instructor submits the Undergraduate Honor System Violation Report Form and all applicable documentation to the Undergraduate Honor System within 10 University business days. In extenuating circumstances, the Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity may extend the deadline for submission of the Honor Code Violation Report Form and the applicable documentation. This submission begins the process by which the Undergraduate Honor System adjudicates the case.

A case of alleged academic misconduct can be resolved through the Faculty-Student Resolution Process without the faculty member and student meeting together.

In situations in which the student and/or faculty member are unable to meet or do not wish to meet, a faculty member may complete the Honor Code Violation Report Form and send it, along with supporting documentation, directly to the Undergraduate Honor System.

Undergraduate Honor System personnel will then meet with the student to discuss the allegations of academic misconduct and the faculty member's recommended sanction(s). The student will then have an opportunity to select one of the options described in Step IV. A. 5. of the above section.

IV. B. Undergraduate Honor System Procedures

Faculty members/instructors must report all alleged infractions of the Honor Code, including those to be resolved by the faculty member/instructor and student through the Faculty- Student Resolution process. The faculty member/instructor should contact the Undergraduate Honor System within 10 University business days of observing, discovering, or receiving a report of an alleged incident of academic misconduct. In extenuating circumstances, the Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity may extend the deadline for reporting an incident of academic misconduct. For cases to be handled by the Undergraduate Honor System, the following procedures will guide the process.

IV. C. 1. RECEIPT OF REPORT AND REVIEW OF ALLEGED INCIDENT

Reported violations of the Undergraduate Honor System are assigned to a member of the Undergraduate Honor System personnel for investigation. The Undergraduate Honor System gathers information from the reporting faculty member/instructor that supports the allegation. This may include, but is not limited to, the course syllabus, assignment guidelines, and any other materials that may assist in clarifying the case. The faculty member/instructor or reporter may also offer the names of others who have knowledge that could clarify the case.

IV. C. 2. MEETING WITH STUDENT (S)

A member of the Undergraduate Honor System personnel meets with the student (when possible) to gather information. The accused student is given the incident report during this meeting. If the student has graduated or is absent from campus, the Honor System will attempt to contact the student in order to provide the student with the incident report. A member of the Undergraduate Honor System personnel may also meet with other persons who have information about the case. The accused student may give the Undergraduate Honor System personnel names of persons who may have clarifying information about the case. Interviews are conducted when necessary.

IV. C. 3. SUBMISSION OF PRELIMINARY FINDINGS

A member of the Undergraduate Honor System's personnel completes a report to the Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity summarizing all information collected and all interviews conducted. The report concludes with a recommendation on whether there is sufficient information to support the allegation of academic misconduct. If the recommendation concludes that there is insufficient information to support the allegation, the Director will contact the faculty member to seek additional information. After consulting with the faculty member, if the Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity determines that there is not sufficient information to support the allegation, the Undergraduate Honor System creates an event file that contains no reference to the student's name and the charges are dropped. If there is sufficient information to support the allegation, the case continues to a hearing.

IV. C. 4. HEARING PANEL

Undergraduate Honor System panel members are selected to serve on a hearing panel. The hearing panel is comprised as follows: three student panel members with voting privileges, two faculty panel members with voting privileges, and one non-voting student chairperson. The Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity may permit a hearing panel to consist of fewer than five voting members in extenuating circumstances as long as at least one faculty panel member is present and there remains a voting majority for the student members on the panel.

IV. C. 5. SCHEDULING OF HEARING

A hearing date and time are set and all parties are notified in writing of the charges being levied, witnesses expected to appear at the hearing, all evidence in possession of the Undergraduate Honor System, hearing panel date, time, and location at least two business days prior to the hearing.

If the student who is accused of academic misconduct does not reside on or near campus, accommodations will be offered (i.e. teleconference and/or video conference) to give the student an opportunity to participate in the hearing.

Faculty and students who are scheduled to appear before a hearing panel will be offered the opportunity to participate in a pre-hearing meeting with a member of the Undergraduate Honor System personnel prior to the hearing panel date. Case facilitators and other Undergraduate Honor System personnel are available to explain the honor system policies and procedures, discuss how the hearing panels work, and assist with preparation for a hearing. While participation in pre-hearing meetings is not required, it is strongly encouraged.

IV. C. 6. CONDUCTING HEARING

A script for the hearing panel will be provided to the panel members. The functions of the hearing panel members are as follows: listen to all who provide information, deliberate in private, make a decision on responsibility (by a simple-majority vote) based on the preponderance of evidence presented at the hearing, conduct the hearing as an educational hearing and not as an adversarial proceeding, and recommend sanctions in accordance with the Undergraduate Honor System's policies and procedures (when a student is found responsible for an Honor Code violation).

A student may have one advisor who is a member of the University community present at the hearing. The advisor may not participate in the proceedings. The advisor's role is specifically limited to conferring with his or her advisee.

IV. C. 7. NOTIFICATION OF HEARING PANEL DECISION

The Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity notifies the student in writing of the hearing panel's decision and sanctions (if the student is found responsible), normally within two business days after the hearing. Notification of the hearing panel's decision is sent to all parties involved in the case, including the student, the faculty member/instructor, the student's department head, the faculty member's department head, the student's dean(s), and the University Registrar.

In extenuating circumstances, a student may request an administrative hearing. If an administrative hearing is granted by the Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity, the procedures described in this section shall be followed, but a member of the Undergraduate Honor System's personnel shall determine whether a student is responsible for an Honor Code violation and assign a sanction if the student is responsible as opposed to the hearing panel.

IV. C. STUDENT APPEAL HEARINGS

A student found responsible for academic misconduct by a hearing panel or at an administrative hearing has 10 university business days after being notified of the decision to request an appeal hearing in writing to the Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity.

There are four reasons for which an appeal hearing may be granted:

IV. E. 1. Substantial new and relevant evidence not available at the time of the original hearing. Such evidence must have been unavailable prior to or during the formal hearing, not merely evidence that a student chose at the time not to share or obtain.

IV. E. 2. Procedural irregularities.

IV. E. 3. Sanction(s) not commensurate with the violation. These are not sanctions that a student disagrees with, but rather sanctions inconsistent with one's conduct or with case precedent.

IV. E. 4. Finding of responsibility inconsistent with the facts presented during the hearing.

For an appeal hearing request to be considered valid, one or more reasons for appeal must be cited and appropriately supported in the written appeal hearing request. Students are limited to one appeal per case.

The Director of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Integrity will evaluate the appeal hearing request to determine whether an appeal hearing is warranted based on the allowed reasons for an appeal. If the appeal hearing is granted, a panel is formed following the procedures described previously.

Members of the appeal hearing panel will be different from those who served on the original hearing panel and will be drawn from the Honor Council. The decision reached by the Honor Council in the appeal hearing is final. Figure 2 visually depicts the formal hearing procedure.

V. PROMOTION AND EDUCATION GUIDELINES

The University believes strongly in the concept of education as a method for encouraging and maintaining academic honesty. As a result, various methods are encouraged and required for the increasing educational awareness.

V. A. PROMOTION OF ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

V. A. 1. SYLLABUS STATEMENT

All Undergraduate course syllabi shall contain a section that states and refers the student to the Honor Code Procedures on the University website. The minimum required statement is listed below. Additional information about the expectation of academic integrity in the particular course may be appropriate:

“As a Hokie, I will conduct myself with honor and integrity at all times. I will not lie, cheat, or steal, nor will I accept the actions of those who do.”

Each student who enrolls at Virginia Tech is responsible for abiding by the Honor Code. A student who has doubts about how the Honor Code applies to any graded assignment is responsible for obtaining specific guidance from the instructor before submitting the assignment for evaluation. Ignorance of the rules does not exclude any member of the University community from the requirements and expectation of the Honor Code.

For additional information please visit: [INSERT Honor System Website]

V. A. 2. ADDITION OF HONOR CODE TO ASSIGNMENTS

Adherence to the Honor Code is expected on all course assignments. Instructors are strongly encouraged to print the following on assignments and examinations and require each student to sign:

“On my honor, as a Virginia Tech student, I have neither given nor received unauthorized assistance on this assignment.”
